

Music and Movement

Play is one of a young child's most powerful cognitive and social learning tools. Building these skills in young children with special needs, will maximize their capacity for positive interactions and overall recreational and social engagement. Music and Movement combines interactive exercise, dance movement and a variety of art, throughout each session.

The program encourages and inspires creative expression, sensory stimulation, physical and mental stimulation in a social setting, that will enhance social skills and sense of role and worth within the group.
